- a new Abstract of the Disclosure

Abstract

Areas of reduced (32) wall thickness down to a few hundredths of a millimeter are produced by injection molding, with a core (5) which is moved in the cavity (2) of an injection molding tool (1) when the molding mass almost completely fills the cavity (2), yet has not solidified. By this method, low cost hangers for dosimeters (20) may be produced integrally provided with a radiation transparent window.
